

Buffalo County Well-Being Collaborative

ORIENTATION

The Well-Being Collaborative is a community collaborative using collective impact and results based accountability to address community health problems.

For more information: bcchp.org/2030vision

Foundations of the Well-Being Buffalo County Collaborative

As a participant of the Well-Being Collaborative you can expect dialogue and action on complex social issues in your community. The collaborative is using innovative solutions to solve complex social issues like: Behavioral Health, Access to Resources, Thriving Children and Families, and Vulnerable Populations.

If you have been a member of previous coalitions, you have seen the impact your community has made in the past. Thank you for your efforts as we move from good work to great work. These six foundations adopted by the collaborative are the keystones for decision making inside the collaborative.

Collective Impact

This model is an intentional way of working towards the same goal and measuring the same things.

Results Based Accountability

This model measures our work, not just asking 'how much did we do' and 'how well did we do it,' also asking 'is anyone better off due to our collective efforts'?

Wellness Indicators

Community data based on proven prevention strategies to establish baseline metrics for the work of the collaborative.

Community Gaps

Bringing people together to identify gaps and addressing them using the foundations of the collaborative.

2030 Vision

By 2030, Buffalo County will have communities that:

- Will have resources that are easy to understand and accessible for all
- Will have access to basic services for all residents
- Will thrive when partners work together to coordinate services
- Will value all people and their voices will inform our work

Collaborative Structure

The collaborative structure is how we implement the foundations to move our vision statement into reality.

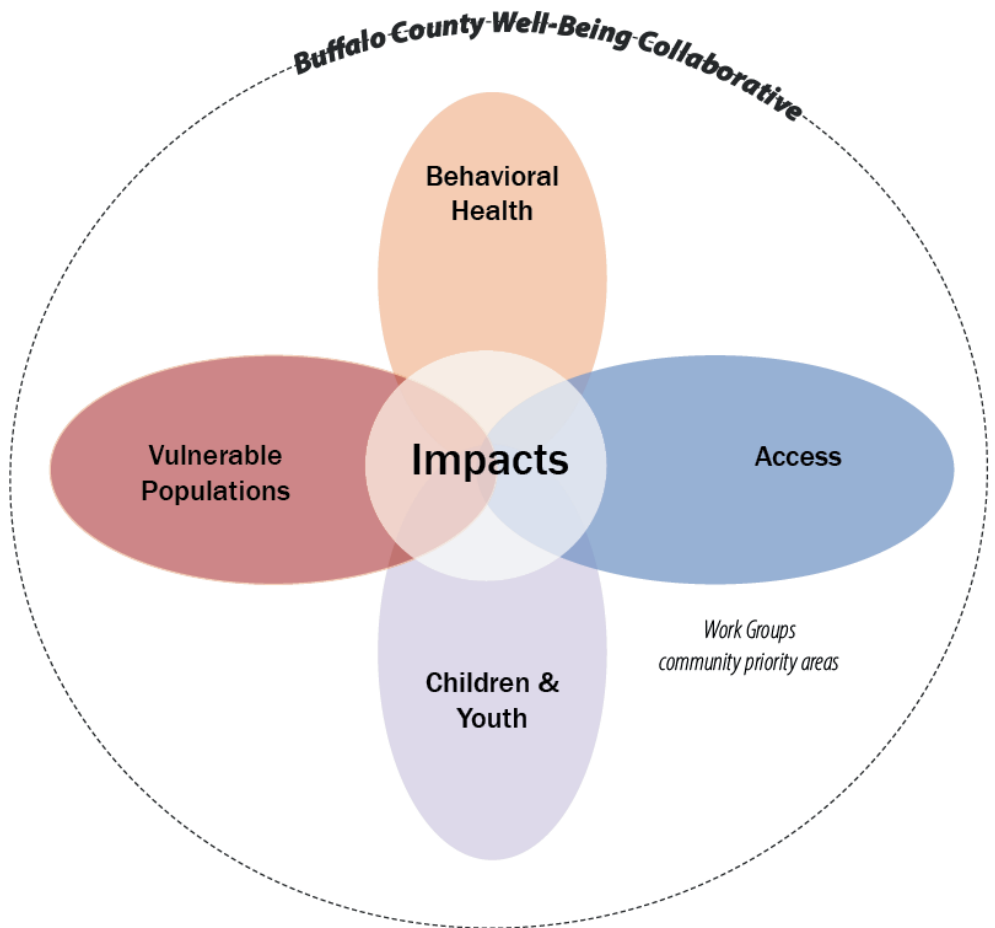

Ready to Join?
bcchp.org/volunteer

Structure

The graphic to the right is The Buffalo County Well-Being Collaborative, made up of 100+ community members from 12 different community sectors. The Collaborative has prioritized four areas of intense focus, behavioral health, children and youth, vulnerable populations and access.

Buffalo County Community Partners Board serves as the backbone.

For a full list of collaborative members see: bcchp.org/2030 vision.

Impact Statements

Early prevention creates opportunities for families to thrive in our community. Access to resources continues to be the number one barrier that faces our community members.

The Collaborative is creating innovative solutions to address these needs in our community to create impact.

IMPACT

1. Prevent persons across the lifespan from entering systems due to issues, challenges, or problems that are preventable.
2. Increase access to information, resources, skill building, programs, and services.

align performance measure and population health targets around these two impact statements.

Collective Impact

Buffalo County Collective Impact Model, Definitions and Questions
Community Well-Being Reflection Tool for Collaboratives

Moving from Isolated Impact to Collective Impact

Isolated Impact

- Great initiatives, projects and pilots that do not coordinate with one another
- Duplication of efforts and inability to compare results and track big picture progress
- Sense of competition and turf battles

Collaboration/ Partnership

- Agreement and excitement around a common "topic"
- Too often, parties involved only include the "usual suspects"
- Meetings and working groups typically lack real alignment or shared measures / accountability

Collective Impact

- All relevant actors work toward the same goal and measure the same things
- Cross-sector alignment, includes "unusual suspects"
- Organizations actively coordinate their action and share lessons learned

Results Based Accountability

Figure 2

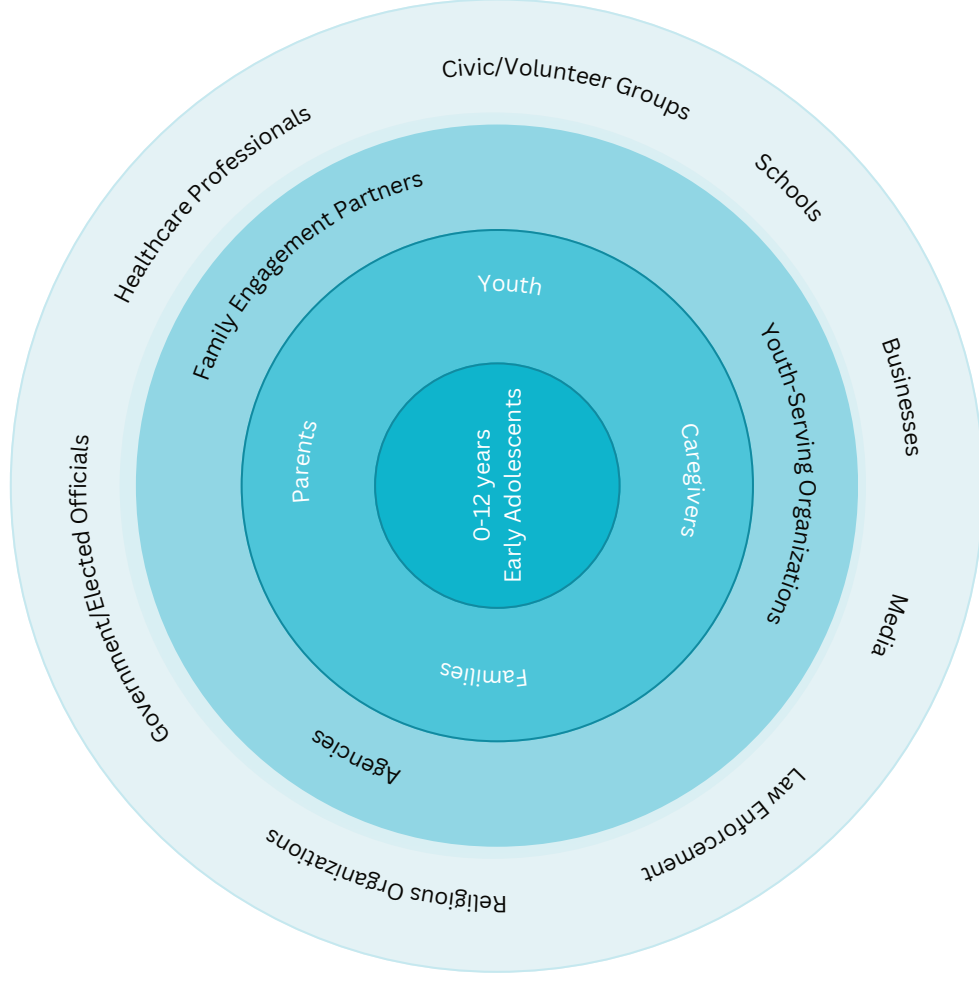

Buffalo County Well-Being Collaborative Structure

Family Engagement Community

in Buffalo County

The focus is to improve outcomes for children in the greatest years of brain development. Nearly 90% of brain development take places during the first five years of life.

By engaging the people with lived experience who have the greatest impact on child brain development at home.

Family Engagement Partners are agencies who provide direct services to children, youth and families. Family-engaging agencies build relationships with parents, caregivers, and families for growth.

Cross-sectors will align our collective work to increase access to resources and reduce entry into systems that are preventable.

Vision: a collaborative space where resources are shared for families by families

